I wrote a blog post for my language class, but the meaning seems to drift. I promise, it all means something.

Gone on the Saturday's water. I should've known. The monkey jumped into the water before I even unpacked. Not the sea to drink, but I drank it anyway. There are no Moors on the coast, they said, so I left the door open. Slid in on a shrimp sandwich, no one asked why I was here. Praise the sea, but stay ashore. I never listen. Everything makes a difference, said the mouse pissing in the sea, so I smiled and sorted pencils. My furs floated away. No one looked up. More tides than sailors. Always.
